Wheat Harvest Is Fast Coming To Close Here

More than 80% of the wheat of Randall county has been harvested, according to H. E. Shahan, county agent. From all indications there will be about four million bushels of wheat made in Randall county in spite of the heavy hail losses which have been sustained during the spring.

In a recheck of yields so far reported, George Schaeffer leads the county with an average yield of 68.2 bushels per acre on 17 acres of wheat. On 1210 acres Mr. Schaeffer averaged 46.3 bushels. On one section which rust hit, he made 28 bushels per acre.

George Nance reports that his yield averaged 64 bushels to the acre.

Joe Frank was in Tuesday and stated that he reported an average of 23 bushels to the acre. But he cut another section of wheat on which he had a hail loss on 180 acres in the middle of the field of which he was not aware last week. This will cut his average to about 20 bushels to the acre.

Ideal weather has prevailed since harvest started. Much wheat has been piled on the ground while the land owners either build a granary, or secure storage for their crop after harvest is completed.

Practically all of the transit combine forces have moved on to the north. The highways have been lined with machines going on to northern harvest fields.

The big need of the farmers right now is for a good rain for the row crop. When the rains cut off, there was a complete stoppage of moisture, and the ground badly baked as a result of the hot weather.

Four Men Held on Walker Store Attempt Robbery

The J. J. Walker store was the scene of an attempted break-in early Sunday morning.

Otto White had spotted two cars with four men cruising around town and suspected that they were plotting a robbery. He succeeded in getting the numbers on the cars.

A heavy bar was used in the attempt to break in the back door of the Prescription Laboratory. After he discovered the attempted robbery, Sheriff M. E. Cantrell and Deputy Birch Campbell were called. One car with two men was picked up in Canyon, and the other car with two men was discovered in Amarillo. Two of the men are in jail and the other two are out on bond.

Davis Hill Heads Administrators Association

Davis Hill, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, was elected president of the Texas School Administrators Association at a recent meeting at College Station.

Mr. Hill, who has been superintendent of Galveston Public School for the past four years, is a graduate of West Texas State and of Texas University. He was principal of the Marshall Public Schools for several years before going to Galveston as principal of the schools there. Before his first term as principal had expired, the Superintendent of Schools died and Mr. Hill was elected to the position which he has held since that time.

Mrs. Harold Cullen, a polio victim in Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, since June 10, will leave Wednesday morning for the McBride Clinic in Oklahoma City for further treatment. Mrs. Cullen is a sister of Mrs. Hugh Kelso and of Mrs. Ewell Fowler, who was a former teacher in Canyon High School.

Century Plant

Standing more than 18 feet high the century plant that has been in full bloom in the yard of Mrs. L. Angel has been a most striking and unusual sight. An added interest has been the small bloom stems that shoot up around the outer edge of the plant. One of these can be seen at the lower right hand corner.

Likely to See This Emblem in the Coming Year

TEXAS PRESS
1949
PRIZE WINNER

The above emblem will likely be seen a lot in The Canyon News during the coming year. It stands for three ribbons which were won by this country weekly newspaper in the Texas Press Association, competing against 600 other weekly newspapers.

The News won a couple of second places, and one fifth place in the contests entered in this big contest.

The above emblem, three certificates of award and three ribbons were received Saturday by The News office. The ribbons will be on display until The News win a fresh batch next year—we hope.

City Spraying Disposes Great Horde Mosquitos

Dr. Robert P. Jarrett, City Health Officer, expressed approval of the spray which was made Saturday.

"I mowed my lawn Saturday evening and did not see a single mosquito. A few days ago mosquitoes were on the lawn by the hundreds," stated Dr. Jarrett. The dry weather may have had something to do with the disappearance of the insects, but Dr. Jarrett believes that the spray killed the crop.

As for grasshoppers, the spray will not affect these. Young hoppers are in all of the bunches of shrubs and weeds. Many citizens are having a commercial spray used for the purpose of killing off this great horde of hoppers. They recall the millions of hoppers which were fought on the farms and ranches a few years ago, and are wondering if there will be another epidemic this year.

Rev. Henderson Here to Discuss D. P. Placings

The Rev. Harold H. Hendsrson visited our community last week in the interest of promoting work for Displaced Persons here in Canyon. Mr. Henderson has been sent out from New York to carry on this mission and he reports that he has met a very heartening response throughout the country he has covered.

He spent all of last week visiting towns in the Panhandle and meeting people who are interested or might become interested in sponsoring P. D.'s in this area. Mr. Henderson held a very helpful conference with Miss Moss Richardson on Wednesday, and he was gratified to learn of the progress that has been made along this line here in Canyon. Miss Richardson is the chairman of the local committee of the Council of Church Women on the D. P. Project.

Dr. Don Savage On U. of C. Staff

Dr. Don Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Savage, received his Ph. D. from the University of California at Berkeley on June 17. Dr. Savage had completed his work in January but the University confers degrees at only one time during the long term.

Dr. Savage had his major in paleontology and has accepted a position on the academic faculty of the University of California at Berkeley, where he has held an assistants place while working toward his Ph. D.

He holds a B. S. degree from West Texas State and an M. S. from the University of Oklahoma with a major in geology. While in the Oklahoma University he was assistant teacher in the department and taught one regular term.

After serving 4½ years in the army, Dr. Savage was discharged with the rank of Major. He served one year in the Pacific Theatre.

Mrs. Savage, the former Betty Brandon of Plainview, is well known in Canyon. She is a graduate of W. T. S. and taught in the schools of this area before her marriage. There are three children in the family of Dr. and Mrs. Savage.

Increased Lead Boosts Standing on Bond Sales

Randall county has increased her position among the counties of Texas in the sale of U. S. Savings bonds.

On June 25 the people of Randall county had bought 50% more than the quota assigned by the government before the campaign opened.

With a quota of $85,000, the sales had rocketed to $124,687.50, with a percentage of 150.23% above the quota.

Randall county stood 8th among the 254 counties of Texas. Only three Panhandle counties were leading Randall on June 25. These counties were Bailey, Hale and Ochiltree. Seventy-nine counties had sold more Savings Bonds than the quota assigned by the government.

Forty-one counties had sold less than 50% of their quotas, while eight of the 254 counties had seemingly made no effort and were under 10% of their quotas.

Mag Peddlers Come, and Go in Short Stay

Another gang of magazine peddlers hit Canyon Thursday and proceeded to mop up and get out of town.

The so-called young "ladies"—youthful at least—presented the usuall plea that "their boss failed to get permission" before starting to work the town. They succeeded in getting some signed checks, and proceeded to cash them in post haste.

Clark Jarnagin, manager of the College Bookstore, found that some of the checks had been cashed by his assistants. The "law" was called. Since Canyon has no ordinance prohibiting the sale of stuff within the city limits, there was nothing for the "law" to do much more than make itself known. The solicitors took the hint that Canyon could do without them and their magazines, and went to greener pastures.

Canyon so far has no ordinance against such practices.

Citizens of Canyon are urged not to patronize peddlers who make house to house calls on the citizens, and make themselves obnoxious.

Maxey M. Morris Died Thursday; Funeral Saturday

Maxey Michael Morris, 69, died Thursday evening at the Neblett Hospital following a short illness. The Morris family had lived in Canyon for 18 years, and Mr. Morris had been employed as one of the care takers of West Texas State.

New Well Is Completed For Use of the City

The new city well is completed, and a thorough test run on water production over the weekend.

The well pumped a six inch stream for two days, clearing up nicely. The city now has five wells available for the heavy summer use.

Mayor W. A. Warren states that the city has been using a million gallons of water daily. It has been impossible to increase the water storage with such a heavy use of water. With the new well turned into the mains, all storage tanks should be filled soon.

The hot dry weather of the past two weeks has greatly increased the use of city water.

Amarillo Boy Is Winner of Trip Havana Sunday

A 10-year-old Amarillo boy, Lonnie Robbins, held the lucky coin which won for him a free 8-day trip to Havana, Cuba, by plane. At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, John McCarty called the series of coins which would be the winner for the trip. Coins between 6,000 and 7,000 were called. Numbers 6,000, 6,001 and 6,002 missed out on the free trip.

Joe Jones of Amarillo won a season's pass to the Amarillo Gold Sox baseball games with coin 6,029; Miss Dale Widsom of Randall Hall won a charm given by a gift shop in Amarillo with coin No. 6,030; Don Ellerbee of Amarillo won another season's pass to the Gold Sox games with coin No. 6,032.

Mr. McCarty stated that up to Sunday admissions in the Palo Duro State Park had been 36,000 persons. This was a substantial increase over the total attendance of last year.

The next major prize in the Treasure Hunt will be given away on July 17. This will be the $250 diamond ring.

A number of coins ending in the lucky "7" were turned in Sunday at the Park and prizes awarded which are being given away by the business firms of Canyon and Amarillo.

Airport Snarl Worked Out to Satisfaction All

Two representatives of CAA were in Canyon last week working out details for the transfer of land for an airport to West Texas State under the provision of the new law recently passed by the legislature.

The city commission and commissioners court met in joint session and worked out an agreement which was acceptable to both sides for the transfer of the 180 acres of land east of the college.

The government will repay one-fourth of the cost of the land to the city and county.

In taking over the airport, the college agrees that should it decide not to maintain an airport in the future that this land shall revert to the ownership of the county and city, which bought the land.

Application has been filed by the college for $4900 from the federal government for the purpose of making improvements on the airport.

From indications, all details have been completed which will make operation of the field by the college possible in connection with student training.

Light House To Be Scene Motion Picture Shots

The motion picture crew which is shooting a picture in the Palo Duro Canyon will move to the Light House on Saturday, where it will take about six days to finish shooting the picture.

A road has been opened up in the Park in order to take the heavy sound trucks to the sight of the picture.

John McCarty announced Sunday that since this is a technicolor picture, absolute silence must prevail in the vicinity of the motion picture. A car honk, or other loud noise could easily spoil the pictures which were in process of making.

Citizens are welcomed to visit the location, but they must be careful, not making noises which will interfere with the operations of the set.

Bride and Groom Will Be Guests Palo Duro Park

Arriving in Amarillo by plane tonight, "The Bride and Groom" of a popular radio program will spend several days of their honeymoon in the Palo Duro State Park.

The bride was the former Gloria Fryer, secretary of an executive in the motion picture business.

The bridegroom is James M. Davis, manager of a men's clothing store in Hollywood. He spent three years in the Marine Corps in the Pacific.

The story of the bride and groom was outlined in a radio program Tuesday afternoon from Hollywood. The Palo Duro State Park was chosen as the ideal place for the couple to spend a few days of their honeymoon. The balance of their time in the Panhandle will be spent at the Herring Hotel.

During their stay here, citizens of the Panhandle are invited to meet the bridal couple.

Legislature Postpones Vote on Constitutional Amendments

No, you will not vote on the constitutional amendments in July!

By resolution, the election date was postponed until November 8 for the purpose of including any other constitutional amendments which may be passed before the legislature adjourns. Furthermore, in the same election members of the new State Board of Education will be named.

The Secretary of State says that the newspapers of the 254 counties which published the proposed ten constitutional amendments will be paid for the postponed service.

The election was postponed on the theory that it was cheaper to republish the amendments than to hold two special elections so close to each other.

We hope that the Secretary of State knows what he is talking about. He may not have reckoned with the ruling of the Board of Control, which must approve such bills.

We recall the fact that several years ago the newspapers of Texas were not paid for a similar service which they had rendered under orders of another Secretary of State. The Board of Control ruled that this former official had no authority to make such a promise to pay. In view of the fact that the Board of Control has the final last word in payment of bills against the State of Texas, we are not going to hold our breath, waiting for a check to cover the two publications which we have been out.

Taft-Hartley Bill Will Stay as the Law of the Land

The Taft-Hartley law will likely remain on the statute books for political purposes. The administration, with labor leader backing, has been trying to repeal the T-H law, but Senator Taft has succeeding in writing into the new law the features which were most desirable. President Truman promised outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. Senator Taft would not object to seeing the law changed so as to remove his name from the obnoxious law which curbs labor unions.

The upshot is that both CIO and AFL leaders have given up hope of repealing Taft-Hartley, and now will center their fire in an attempt to defeat members of Congress who voted against the labor leaders.

Southern Congressmen, who teamed with Republicans ot save T-H are to be the targets of the irrate labor group.

Wouldn't it be fine, and American, if Congress, capital and labor could calmly sit down to write a law which would be neither capital nor labor, but wholly American in all its aspects, giving both sides a fair and square deal?

Will this ever come about?

Public Attitude on Criminals

The Canyon News has often pointed out the erroneous public attitude of criticising peace officers who were trying to do their duty. When a crime is committed, too few citizens will offer their assistance to peace officers in their effort to solve the crime. And once the criminal is caught, public opinion swings to favor the person who committed the crime.

Officers are criticised for doing their duty; but are repremanded because of their failure to apprehend immediately the criminal.

Right here in the Panhandle this same thing goes on. A murder was recently committed, but because officers, working on the case without a single clue, have failed to catch the criminals involved, they are being subjected to criticism. You cannot expect miracles of peace officers over night.

Social Security Funds Spent

We are told that of the billions of dollars collected for Social Security, not one cent remains in the fund set up for this purpose. The administration has wasted this money in strike benefits and other forms of governmental pampering.

This money was paid into the treasury by workers and their employers for one purpose, and one alone—for future security. Now the administration must rely on direct appropriation to pay just claims against this fund.

We don't like this kind of a deal, and cannot see how any person can approve of the juggling of funds.

Looking ahead and planning a public works program for the future is being urged from Washington. While all of us are whistling, in the dark, and saying there cannot be another depression, all of us are convinced that such a depression may be around the corner. Stalin is counting on such a depression to improve his standing with communism. We are advised to be safe, rather than sorry.

The trial jury has convicted Judith Capton, the Communist who thought she could defy Americanism. If other juries will treat other commies this way, America will be better off.

Big Political Battle in Texas Assured During Campaign 1950

Judging from political antics, Texas will be blessed with candidates in 1950. Already a number of candidates are shelling the woods, so to speak, hoping to get an early inside spot in the big races.

Caso March of Waco has been openly campaigning for Governor. He is making his third race. He thinks that Tom Hunter was right in making three trys for the office.

Lieutenant Governor Allan Shivers has been campaigning vigorously for Governor, but calls it by another name.

Bill Wilson, district attorney of Dallas, has already been in Canyon, trying to line up support for Attorney General.

A whole flock of other candidates are making a hand shaking campaign for state offices.

Friends of Coke Stevenson have been trying to interest him in making another run for Governor. And Pappy O'Daniel is not to be counted out of the possible running.

Yes, sir, we shall have a red hot political campaign in Texas next year.

So far there has been no political stir in Randall county, since local candidates seldom start getting busy before the first of January.

Moscow Challenges Christianity In Fight on Catholic Church

The challenge of Moscow to the Catholic Church in Europe should be of interest to every liberty loving American. The war of the commies against religion is just another move that will extend against all churches should Stalin succeed in his plan to rule the world.

The News knows little about Catholism We have never had the opportunity to study this religion, or the practices of the church. Perhaps some of the impressions and information given us in earlier days are prejudiced. One thing is sure and certain, the Catholics have as much right to their form of religion as the members of the Baptist, Methodist or any other church in existence. Stalin has no more right to war on the Catholic Church of Europe than any Protestant Church might assume that it has the right to war on the Catholic Church of America, or upon any other denomination with which it differs.

As we view it, this war of Moscow against the Catholic Church is a fight of all Christians and Catholics against all atheists.

Maybe Texas Could Abolish Office of Governor on Money

Texas certainly has developed a queer financial mess. Under the law the Comptroller can refuse to approve an appropriation if he estimates that this appropriation would create a deficiency. However, the legislature by four-fifths vote may approve of deficiency spending, and the Comptroller cannot refuse to approve any appropriation.

Now comes the argument that when the legislature passes appropriations by four-fifths majority, the Governor cannot veto an item from the bill. The question has been referred to the Attorney General.

In the first instance, the Comptroller is the sole judge of the appropriation; and in the second place the legislature gets first place.

Pretty soon we will get along without a Governor.

Baruch's Advice Not Heeded

Bernard Baruch proclaims that the administration is not making plans to mobilize the industrial strength of the nation for wartime emergencies.

Baruch has been the adviser of presidents, especially Wilson and Roosevelt. However, his advice was not taken by Roosevelt, when the financier advised the President that labor and materials must be placed under a ceiling if America was to have the best industrial war machine.

America has paid a terrible price for the failure of Roosevelt to follow this advice. And we shall continue to pay and pay and pay. The present slowdown in American industry is the direct result.

School Men Look for Candidate

School men of this section met in Amarillo for two days last week making a study of the Gilmer-Aiken law.

On November 8 the voters of this district will elect —by ballot—some person who will be a member of the first State Board of Education under this new law. There is no pay to the job, but an opportunity for real service to the schools of Texas.

The school men in session expressed concern as to who would be able to make the personal sacrifice to serve in this capacity.

The land lords who hope to increase rents in Texas should be wary of their action. The new rent re-control bill is not effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns. This applies to counties which had not been freed from rent control before the passage of the law. Randall county was freed several months ago, but we have had no complaint of large increases on the part of property owners.

Just to give the idea of tolerance a test we suggest that somebody get the leaders of the world's thousand largest religious organizations into a conference and try to have them frame a simple declaration of principles.

It is very hard to tell what some of the squabbling is about in certain European countries; the correspondents seem to have only a hazy idea.

The Russians may have decided against warfare but they know how to make progress in what they call peace.

Some religionists are so involved in the housekeeping of the church that they forget the power of religion.

It could be said that politics is the art of being elected and statesmanship is the art of governing a nation.

When democracies pay larger salaries to their top men they will get a more intelligent set of t. m.

"What's all what?" responded the startled clerk.

Museum Visitors Breaking Records

Attendance at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum is breaking all records.

Last year's January to June record of 25,576 visitors is already bested by this year's 29,274 at the closing of the day's business June 29. June 1948 registrants totaled 4,365 while visitors up to June 29, 1949 numbered 5,022.

The museum's roster of visitors shows 12 countries and three possessions besides those from the United States. These are Alaska, 9; Puerto Rico, 16; Guam, 1; Canada, 12; England, 3; Japan, 2; China, 1; West Africa, 1; Mexico, 1; Venezuela, 1; Peru, 2; Spain, 1; Greece, 1; Istambul, Turkey, 1; and Brazil, 2.

Out of state totals include 390 from Oklahoma, 309 from New Mexico, 185 Californians and 30 from Penensylvania. Representatives from Delaware, Nevada and Vermont have not visited the museum yet this year.

Wider Demand For Economy In Federal Budget

Sentiment in Congress in favor of cutting the cost of the Federal government is growing fast. Many things have contributed to it—among them, the decline in business and employment, the fact that a heavy Federal deficit now seems inevitable, and the reluctance of the lawmakers to increase taxes, because complaints from the "folks back home about Federal spending" are increasing.

However, sentiment in favor of cuts in spending, and practical action toward that end, are two different things. Congress is always bedeviled by pressure groups, all of whom are in favor of cutting the appropriations that go to someone else and increasing their own. As an obvious example, there is hardly a chamber of commerce that doesn't pay lip-service to the cause of economy—and then whoop it up whenever it sees a chance to get a slice of Federal tax money for its own area.

In the long run, the decisive factor will be public sentiment—the wishes of the voters as to fiscal policy. A short time ago the Omaha World-Herald carried on an interesting experiment. It published a full account of a speech made by Senator Byrd, in which he described various spending measures now before Congress, and pointed out that the billions they would cost would have to be paid by the people. The World-Herald then published a ballot on which its readers could express their views on the matter.

The first question asked for opinion on a straight 10 per cent cut in all Federal expenditures that can be cut. Only 134 who answered were against this, while 5,869 were for it. The balance of the questions covered specific legislative measures such as Federal housing, Federal aid to education, the national health plan, arms to Europe under the North Atlantic Pact, etc. In every instance the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of strict economy. On the health plan, for instance, 5,828 expressed themselves as being against it and 99 for. On increased payroll and income taxes, 5,876 said no while a mere 96 approved them.

In conducting its poll, the paper emphasized the certain but often-overlooked fact that "the Federal government hasn't a cent except what it takes from all of us in taxes." It is true that some polls indicate that a substantial majority of the people want Federal handouts. However, such polls are usually so worded as to make the unwary believe that they will get them for nothing—that the money will come from some mysterious source other than the people's pockets.

The Hoover Commission reports have given Congress what it long lacked—a detailed blueprint for eliminating waste, duplication, overlapping. Now it remains to be seen whether the people will demand its acceptance.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

TheNational Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reports the trend toward a higher proportion of poliomyelitis cases among adults continuing during last year's widespread epidemic. Of the 15,151 persons stricken in 22 states and the District of Columbia last year, 17.8 per cent were over 20 years of age. Children under 10 made up 60.2 per cent of the survey total; between 10 and 14, 14.3 per cent and those in the 15-19 age group, 7.7 per cent.

HOLIDAY DEATHS

Traffic accidents accounted for 253 of the total of at least 413 persons who were killed in this country over the Memorial Day week end. There were 87 drownings, 73 died in fires, falls, airplane mishaps and other accidents. Last year's unofficial overall accident toll was 404, in airplane mishaps and other accidents. Last year's unofficial overall accident toll was 404, in 1947 it was 504 and in 1946 the total was 292.

John Snyder, Treasury Secretary, together with William MacChesney Martin, Assistant Secretary, will insist that nations in Europe tackle their currency problems before approaching U. S. for still more help. U. S. line is that European currencies should be revalued — made cheaper in relation to the dollar—and then should be bolstered by resources of the International Monetary Fund.

Chairman Thomas B. McCabe of the Federal Reserve Board favors a national commission to study the nation's monetary and credit system. Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder opposes it. Bankers agree with McCabe that money and credit problems are critical, but will not battle for an investigation because they think any committee designated now would be composed of political appointees and not of experts.

The Armed Services have agreed to new rules for post exchanges and ships' service stores, long charged with unfair competition by retailers. Sales of expensive jewelry and other expensive items will be discontinued. Top price for over-the-counter sales will be $85. The 20% Federal excise tax will be collected beginning Aug. 1. Special order sales of goods not carried in stock—furniture, television sets and electric refrigerators—will be limited to $300 each.

Heavy Trucks Not Paying for Damage to Roads

Of late, there has been a marked increase in concern over the damage done to the nation's highways by heavy commercial trucks. It has been the subject of forthright comment by the U. S. Commissioner of Roads. Reports made by state highway engineers in Illinois and elsewhere, following factual surveys, indicate that modern roads would last almost indefinitely, with a minimum of maintenance, under normal passenger car and light truck traffic. But they simply can't stand the beating given them by the behemoths of the highway.

The Chicago Tribune has this to say: "We have no grudge against the trucking industry. . . . All we expect is that it pays taxes sufficient to build the heavier highways that its trucks and trailers require. It isn't doing that now. Roads in this and every other state are being wrecked as fast as they are built, and faster than they can be repaired, and it is the oversize trucks that are doing it."

The trucking industry often calls attention to the large sums it pays in license fees, gasoline taxes, and other levies. But this money makes up a very small percentage of the ever-growing total we are spending on road building, heavier bridge construction and repairs. All the taxpayers are contributing huge sums to subsidize commercial trucking through the construction and maintenance of enormously costly highways of a type normal traffic does not require.

Is it too much to ask the trucking industry to stand on its own economic feet, and pay a fair price for the use of the highways that make its existence possible?

Mr. and Mrs. Harley L. Stone, Tabor and Mike, visited Monday afternoon and evening with her mother, Mrs. Guy B. Tabor. They were enroute to their home in Lubbock after Mr. and Mrs. Stone had spent the weekend in Perryton and Tabor and Mike had spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stone at Elkhart, Kansas.

The auto industry is selling all the cars it can produce. Auto installment credit outstanding is about $2.7 billion with 5,000,000 persons paying on credit contracts. Would-be buyers of the lower-priced cars are being told they cannot expect delivery in less than four months—unless something unexpected happens. Used car prices, after a sharp decline, have steadied.

Increased output and lower prices for steel, tires, batteries, castings and other components will boost second quarter earnings of General Motors, Chrysler and Studebaker higher than in the first quarter—barring upsets due to labor troubles. Auto men think their industry will be the last to feel the effect of the current dip and a leader in the recovery.

Evans-Lowery Wed by Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Loveta Evans, daughter of S. A. Evans, and Junior Lowery were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, July 3, at 4:00 o'clock in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. H. C. Evans, in the Fairview community. The Rev. Shaw of the First Baptist Church at Happy read the double ring ceremony.

The bride chose for her wedding a lovely white dress, white off-the-face hat, white and brown shoes. For something borrowed she wore a gold stick pin belonging to her father; something old was a necklace belonging to her grandmother. She carried a white Bible topped with red roses tied with blue ribbon. Her corsage was pink rose buds tied with blue ribbon.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Noel Cheek, as matron of honor, wore a pale yellow dress and light green hat. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

E. E. Wesley was best man.

The bride's grandmother chose for the wedding a black dress with white accessories. Her corsage was peach gladioli tied with white ribbon.

After the ceremony the bride cut the lovely angel food cake which was served with punch by Miss LaVena Amerson, Mrs. Hollis Shipman, Miss Vesta Amerson and Miss Lynda Shipman to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cheek and Mr. and Mrs. Cheek of Grapevine, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson and Darrell, Mrs. George Schaeffer and George Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shipman, Nan Earyle and Gene, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley, S. A. Evans, Mrs. Clifford Cunningham and son and the bridegroom's sister and husband from Amarillo.

CHAS. STRATTON RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH OF NIECE

Word has been received by Charlie Stratton that his niece, Lonnette Stratton, daughter of R. S. Stratton, died suddenly last Friday night in Crestline, California. The young lady was a spring graduate from high school and was at work on her first full time job. She complained of feeling ill when she came in from work and retired to her room, where she was found dead some short time later.

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation to the many community friends for the kindnesses shown us and the remembrances manifested when our husband, father and brother passed away June 30. Safety Pin Inventor Sold Rights for $100

NEW YORK. — One hundred years ago a Brooklyn inventor got a patent for a remarkable household gadget, with the result that nobody today remembers him, but everybody uses his product.

The man was Walter Hunt; the gadget was the safety pin.

Hunt never knew his invention may have antedated him at least 4,000 years (some say since the bronze age, more than 2,000 years B.C.) But nobody ever tried to patent it, and he was given patent No. 6,281.

That should have put him on easy street—but Hunt needed money and within the short space of three hours he had conceived the idea, made a model and sold his rights for $100.

Had Good Mind

"Hunt had a good mind, but very little practical sense," said Joseph Nathan Kane, a writer who digs up historical characters and brings them back to life.

"He gave his inventions away to pay his debts, and he always owed money."

According to Kane, one day in 1848 Hunt went to see his friend Jonathan Chapin. He slumped into a chair and buried his face in his hands.

"What's the matter, Mr. Hunt?" Chapin asked.

"I owe you 15 dollars."

"I can let you have a little more," Chapin said.

"What good would that do? I can't even buy my wife a meal of victuals."

Suddenly Hunt lifted his head. "I have it. I'll be by this afternoon and pay you."

Hunt hurried to his shop and rummaged around until he found a piece of brass wire about eight inches long. He pointed one end. Then he bent the wire and made a loop so that the two sides acted as a spring. He bent the other end and brought the point through it. He made a right twist and looked at what he had done. It was a shielded safety pin.

Took the $100

Then he went to see a manufacturer named Richardson, who looked the gadget over carefully.

"I'll give you $100 cash," he said finally.

"All right," said Hunt.

"And of course you'll apply for a patent and assign the rights to me."

"One hundred dollars," said Hunt.

Richardson peeled off $100 in small bills. Hunt paid his friend Chapin, and hurried home.

"Polly," he cried to his wife, "here's 85 dollars. We can eat again."

A few months later, on April 10, 1849, the patent was issued.

This was the legal beginning of a contrivance that has served a thousand and one purposes.

British Youth Jubilant As Candy Now Unrationed

LONDON.—Candy came off the ration after seven dreary years. This was big news among the youngsters of Britain.

Savings banks were being pryed open so the big burst of the new freedom may be financed adequately.

The confectioners' windows looked wonderful.

The conversation of the young fry, who have been limited to four ounces a week for as long as they can remember, was filled with such technical terms as:

Hundreds and thousands—gobstoppers — bull's-eyes — sherbet dabs — and, of course, lollipops and suckers.

Some large candy companies remembered that, while the ration ticket is in the discard, quite a few children haven't got a savings bank to raid. So, all around the country, thousands of pounds of candy were distributed free. One firm alone sent big boxes to 120 dependent children's homes.

A manufacturer estimated there are seven million British children of lollipop age who had never bought an unrationed piece of candy.

'Vacuum Cleaner' Rigs Suck Oysters from Sea Bottoms

AKRON.—A new method of harvesting oysters with a giant "vacuum cleaner" rig that sweeps clean the bottom of the sea has been developed by a New Haven oyster grower in co-operation with B. F. Goodrich engineers.

The suction equipment not only loads about 1,000 bushels of oysters an hour, but catches at the same time thousands of destructive oyster drills, a boring snail which is one of the principal enemies of the shellfish.

The oyster company uses a converted army FS, the type of vessel that transported supplies to military installations on isolated small islands in the Pacific. On the port side is a 40-foot length of 10-inch steel pipe to which is attached 20 feet of flexible suction hose and a six-foot nozzle resembling that on a household vacuum cleaner.

First Steam Engine Ran Through Cornish Streets

In 1801, a 31-year-old Englishman named Richard Trevithick successfully demonstrated an invention which was to revolutionize world economy. It was the first workable self-propelled steam engine and it pulled passengers through the streets of a Cornish town. Stationary steam power had been in use for a hundred years, but this one and those shortly afterward built to run on rails by George Stephenson actually moved.

In this day when the most fantastic scientific advances are taken as a matter of course, it is difficult to realize the skepticism toward the moving engine. They didn't believe it until they saw it; even when they saw it, some didn't believe, notes R. G. Henley of the N. and W. Ry.

Thirty-five years later in America a learned mathematician "proved" with formulae that it was impossible for an iron wheel on an iron rail to ascend even the slightest grade. William Norris, this country's first outstanding locomotive builder, conducted a public demonstration and secured affidavits from every passenger to contradict the professor.

The development of the steam locomotive to its present high efficiency is a fascinating story. Its history began in England about 1700 when Thomas-Savery and Thomas Newcomen developed a crude coal-burning device for pumping water from deep coal mines.

In 1765, James Watt, a young Scottish instrument maker, was hired to repair Newcomen's engine, and succeeded in building a better and more economical one. From this improved steam engine, patented by Watt in 1769, modern locomotives can trace their beginning.

Automatic Water Supply Recommended for Poultry

Another step in the farmer's long battle to take some of the backache out of routine chores has come with the development of automatic watering systems for poultry houses.

The New York farm electrification council at Cornell university tested several automatic "freeze-proof" systems last winter that are adapted to poultrymen with small flocks, and found the cone-type system rated the best.

"It almost takes care of itself," some New York farmers reported. They said watering hens by hand takes plenty of time and labor but with an automatic supply "it's easy and fast."

Among the advantages given for the cone drinker were its low expense and installation, care in operation, and a saving of 25 to 30 per cent in labor. The device is simple and durable, with few movable parts.

Prof. C. N. Turner of Cornell, who heads the research pointed out that the need for such a drinker among small poultrymen has always been great. Chickens drink in small frequent amounts, and without water for a few hours they promptly respond with less production. An automatic water supply is the best insurance against such a hazard, he said.

Treat Poultry for Lice

Unless hens have been treated for lice and mites within six months, they may be infested with these harmful parasites, according to P. H. Gooding, leader, Clemson poultry extension work. An infestation of either may cause the loss of several eggs per hen during a month, and this greatly lowers the income per hen during the season when eggs are selling for good prices, he points out. Lice stay on poultry at all times. To destroy them Gooding advises growers to treat their birds with sodium fluoride dust or to apply a nicotine sulphate base compound to the perches one hour before the birds go to roost. Within 10 days another application should be given the roost to destroy the lice from the eggs that have hatched during this period.

Calcium for Adults

On the basis of recent studies, the National Research council has recommended that the amount of calcium for adults be increased from .8 to one gram daily. This means that adults who have been using two cups of milk a day may want to increase this amount to three cups in order to be sure of at least meeting the requirement. Five quarts of fluid milk a week—or its equivalent in cheese, dried or evaporated milk—is recommended for adults. While that might seem like a lot, especially to those people who are not fond of milk as a beverage, there are many ways of getting that amount into the diet.

Pribilof Adventure

A naval expedition to the bleak Pribilof islands in the Bering sea brought out a large section of the population of fur seals to welcome the visitors. The USS Thuban took 4,200 tons of cargo to the island and brought back a four million dollar load of sealskins and byproducts. Sparsely inhabited by human beings, the islands have a population of more than 5 million fur seals, which build cities on rookeries to raise families.

"...wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What, therefore GOD hath joined together, let no man put asunder."
Matthew 19:6
RISING DIVORCE RATE
U.S. MARRIAGES

Homes are wrecked and lives estranged; children are pulled this way and that by divorced parents. What can be done? For the nation, one divorce for each four marriages and in some cities, as many divorces as marriages. Think on these things.

Let's see to it that we respect and honor marriage as the most delicate and perhaps the most important of all human relations. No man or woman ought to laugh or make sport of the family, or of the relation of women and men in the home. Let's have done with the mother-in-law jokes and all other caricatures of this sacred union of hearts and minds.

Let's prepare our young people for successful marriage. Do we give as much attention as did our fathers to the direction of our children toward making good homes? It is about the most important task that falls to mothers and fathers and teachers and preachers, in fact, to all of us. We must get our young people well married. Then tell them the truth about this intimate and familiar human relation. Warn them and counsel them, as did the writer of Proverbs in the Old Testament.

Let's make marriage a sacrament, entered upon in the reverent mood of prayer, and supported by the aids of religion. Surround this union of immortal spirits with every sacred and wholesome influence from the very beginning. Dedicate every new home as a shrine where the children of God shall expect the guidance of their Heavenly Father in their conduct toward each other.

Marriage is not only the mating of bodies: it is the mating of souls. Two souls do not become one in a few hours of courtship or in a few weeks of marriage. Only patience and good will and mutual respect and faithful affection will equip two different persons to live together with growing union of body and soul. Divorce means the failure of the home, the failure of us all in the building of a good society. Less haste and more care in preparation for marriage will make fewer divorces after marriage. Every home requires God's aid and blessing, if it succeeds: "Wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What, therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

The Lesson I learned from Suzie

The other night we had cabbage for supper. My wife is a swell cook, and she'd done an especially good job on the cabbage. I took a heapin' big plateful for myself and passed it over to Susie. Susie is our little four-year-old.

"Have some cabbage, honey?" I asked her.

"Nah-h-h-h!" she said, "I don't like cabbage."

"Why, Susie," her mother spoke up, "have you ever eaten cabbage?"

"Nah-h-h-h, I never did eat any of it—I just don't like cabbage!"

Well, that set me to thinking. Every time I go down to my Co-op, the boys there ask me to use Co-op Motor Oil. For years now, I've been using another brand of oil and I always thought it was the best, so I always told them: "No, I don't like Co-op oil." You know, when Susie pulled that stunt about the cabbage, it hit me like a ton of bricks—how did I know whether I liked Co-op oil or not, I'd never tried any.

I was startin' some plowing the very next day, so I order out my first barrel of Co-op Solvent Refined Oil, and I can truthfully say that I have never used a better motor oil. And I know why, too. It's made in a farmer owned refinery for use on farms, to specifications that will meet the heaviest farming uses. From now on, you'll find nothing in the crankcase of my tractor, pick-up and car but CO-OP SOLVENT REFINED MOTOR OIL!

By the way, Susie likes cabbage now. She tried it.

Juniper Aired as Radio Emcee for Jazz Age Jive Platter Program at Baylor University

Dr. Walter H. Juniper is the small fellow with the ready grin and "happy to meet you" expression who now occupies the dean's office.

An ex-Latin professor and assistant dean at Baylor, he has fitted into the WT groove as easily as a size five foot in a size six shoe. His office door always swings in and he is a willing audience for anyone, students or faculty, who would like ot see him. In fact, visitors may find themselves conversing easily on subjects far afield from the one they anticipated.

Dr. Juniper, with his wife and eight-year-old daughter, Margaret, moved to one of the Pueblos the first of June. With them came his record collection with 500 discs which take up a large part of the living room and space under the bed.

Although he eschews the long-hair type of recordings, his jump tunes aren't be-bop. They include Paul Whiteman's "Japanese Sandman" and a 1918 rendition of Al Jolson doing "April Showers."

WT's new dean, Dr. Walter Juniper, selects a record from his collection to play for The Prairie's photographer, Gort Rushmer. Dr. Juniper's collection includes over 500 titles that he played over a weekly disc-jockey show in Waco.

For a year and a half before he came to Canyon, Dr. Juniper drew on his extensive files for a radio platter patter program, the like of which Waco hadn't heard in many a day. A sort of "Jukebox Saturday Night," he set the oldsters to raking up the past and showed his college students where a good many of their Hit Parade favorites originated.

All of his records, over 1000 titles, span the years 1916 to 1929. They symbolize the fox trot and bunny hug of the Roaring Twenties with the slow-paced rhythms that tend to take on a lilt by late 1928 and 29.

The young (37-year-old) dean broadcast 18 "Jukebox of Yesteryear" programs over Station WACO last year and did 20 this year, most of them lasting 30 minutes. He selected five songs each time, wrote his own script, did research on what Waco citizens were doing when the tunes were popular and did a rehearsal timing the program down to the last second.

"It took about 15 hours a week, Dr. Juniper estimates. "I enjoyed doing it immensely, but it was beginning to occupy all my leisure time." When queried as to the possibilities of resuming the broadcasts for a Panhandle audience, the dean put an authoritative nix on the idea—at least for the present.

"After all, I came here as an educator and dean and I shall be much too busy for some time to come to be putting on radio programs."

Collection Grows

Dr. Juniper came by the collection of post World War I records quite accidentally. A few years ago he discovered 40 records of that period in the attic of his wife's old home in Ohio. They were in perfect condition considering they had been stored there since about 1926. After bringing them to Waco he began playing them for friends and later on the Baylor campus station, KIYS.

Response was overwhelming and his fans, mostly middle-aged, began giving or loaning him their old records. The original 40 has swelled to 500 and he now has them albumed and cataloged in a manner befitting a Latin professor. Since the wife and eight-year-old daughter, Margaret, are living in a tiny Pueblo owned by the college, several of the albums have been relegated to boxes under the bed.

Not all of Dean Juniper's platters are humorous. He has a sprinkling of operatic arias sung by the greats of grand opera, such as Caruso and Galli-Curci. And a great many are the sob songs which sent the 1920 flappers and their fellows. One program Dr. Juniper titled, "Tears and Tragedy of Yesteryear." He featured the songs of Vernon Dalhart a Texas balladeer who immortalized "The Prisoner's Song." (Dalhart's real name was Marion Try Slaughter who took the professional name from the two towns of his childhood).

Such songs as "I Want a Pardon for Daddy," about a little girl standing outside the pen who assures the warden, "He'll go straight if you'll open the gate" and "Daddy, Please Don't Go to the Mine Today" a child's fearful and prophetic dream of a mine disaster, wrung laughs from the modern radio audiences whereas they were written to be tearfully sad.

Also on this program, Dean Juniper played "The Death of Floyd Collins," about the explorer trapped in a Kentucky cave, "There's a New Star in Heaven Tonight—Rudolph Valentino" in commemoration of "The Shiek's" untimely death and "Death's Shadow Song," a sort of "Gloomy Sunday" in which the hereafter was viewed as a kindly reuniting of dead lovers.

Program Famous

All of Dr. Juniper's programs were carefully planned around a central theme, Christmas, Easter, Hillbilly songs or Religious Hymns. The story of a Latin professor turned disc jockey hit such publications as the Dallas News, Radio Daily and Audio Daily.

The collection, according to their owner, is purely for pleasure and not for profit. Although most of the records are over 20 years old, they have little monetary value, even to a collector. "They would bring around $2 a platter at top prices," Dr. Juniper said. "But you couldn't get rich on the proceeds," he laughed.

In addition to his twice weekly stine at the two radio stations, Dr. Juniper was moderator for WACO's Junior Town Meeting, a weekly half-hour discussion. He was sponsor of the student senate. His easy friendliness is expected to make him a student favorite at WT also.

Canyon Rotary Club Started New Year at Tuesday Lunch

The first session of the new Rotary year was held Tuesday by the Canyon Rotary Club.

Jack Haley presided as new president of the club.

Bill Wilson was in charge of the music and introduced a male quartet, composed of Dr. J. B. Roberts, Dr. Chas. Nester, Crannell Tolliver and Mr. Wilson. Three numbers were sung.

Mr. Haley outlined work for the coming year, stressing the high points of Rotary as outlined by Rotary International.

Rev. Hubert Thomson will be program chairman for the coming year. He hopes to have every member of the club on a program during the coming year.

The club has ordered new Rotary road signs to be placed on the highways leading into Canyon from three directions.

"I hope to see at least one 100% attendance meeting during the year, and see Canyon among the top 10 clubs in the district," stated the new president.

The Rotary Magazine was pointed out as one of the finest publications in the nation. The club will place it in all school libraries of the city.

A recent speaker believed that the 366,000 Rotarians in most of the nations of the world had more influence for peace than had United Nations. Mr. Haley stressed this point, and the importance of every Rotarian being world minded, and interested in world affairs.

Wilma A Schuette Weds Travis H. Knox in Double Ring Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. TRAVIS H. KNOX

Miss Wilma A. Schuette, daughter of the late Fred Schuette of Canyon, and Mr. Travis H. Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knox of San Antonio, were united in marriage at Trinity Lutheran Church, Amarillo, at 3:30 p. m., on June 26. Rev. Martin J. H. Hartenberger officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and palms. Tall white tapers burned in the two pairs of seven branch candelabra on either side of the altar, and pairs of white tapers tied with white satin ribbons and white gladioli marked the aisle.

The bridesmaids were identically gowned in dresses of taffeta fashioned with sheer yokes, pointed bodices, and full hoop-skirts; matching bonnets were styled of net and trimmed with bows and tiny flowers. Miss Helene A. Schuette, maid of honor, wore aqua and carried pink astors and gladioli. Miss Betty Ann Schuette wore orchid, carrying orchid asters and gladioli. Both are sisters of the bride. Miss Phyllis Albers wore yellow and carried yellow roses and gladioli. Mrs. Ida Schuette, mother of the bride, wore wine crepe with black accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Alwina Leseberg, foster-mother of the bride wore crepe with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Schuette, was gowned in a white satin dress fashioned with a sheer yoke bordered with a crisp lace ruffle accenting a pointed bodice. The full-gowned skirt formed a short train. Her finger tip veil was bordered with a double band of lace complimenting that of the dress and was held in place by a seed pearl tiara. For something old, she carried a handkerchief belonging to her sister, Helene Schuette; for something new, she wore a cameo necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Ruth Stelzer of Amarillo, who also sang "O Perfect Love" preceding the processional. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung immediately following the processional by Mr. Oscar Schuette, brother of the bride. Mr. Rex Sheffy of Dimmitt served as best man, and Mr. Bobby Jones of Jericho, and Mr. Gene Tyler of Claude served as attendants.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the Alwina Leseberg home east of Canyon, to members of the wedding party and families of the bride and groom. The linen-covered T-shaped table was ornamented with the three-tiered wedding cake flanked by an arrangement of white gladioli and white tapers.

A reception followed the supper. The lace-covered table was attractively arranged with a crystal punch bowl at one end and a beautiful decorated wedding cake at the other end. A floral arrangement of pink peonies and blue and white daisies were centered on the table; tall tapers burned as guests were served. Miss Betty Jean Schuette poured the punch and Phyllis Albers served the cake. Mrs. William Schuette presided at the guest book. Many beautiful gifts were displayed in an adjoining decorated room.

Mrs. Knox is a graduate of Canyon High School, and attended West Texas State College. She is presently employed with the American Quarterhorse Association in Amarillo. Mr. Knox is a graduate of Claude High School, and served for three years in the armed forces overseas. He is employed with the West Texas Implement Company and has farming interests near Groom. The couple will make their home in Amarillo.

The following were supper and reception guests: Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Bauer and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Meyer and family, Mrs. Helene Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boehning and Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamblen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gerdsen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerdsen and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schuette and son, Mrs. Ida Schuette, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tucek and family, Mrs. Alwina Leseberg and Oscar and Betty Schuette, all of Canyon.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

Defense Secretary Johnson has made a strong appeal for President Truman's support of Sen. Millard E. Tydings' bill to unify the Armed Forces. Johnson told the President that the bill, which Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services is blocking, could save $3 billion a year.

Gen. Eisenhower's blast a gainst the Administration for the Federal Aid to Education bill will not be his last. The general is seriously concerned about the Government's trend toward statism; so much so that he has indicated to friends that he would not be unwilling to enter politics actively, as a Republican, to fight it.

John Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will not voluntarily quit the FBI under fire. Should Truman discharge Hoover, the head G-man would actively oppose any Congressional action to remove the FBI from White House control and set it up as an independent agency.

Sharpley - Knighton Rites in August

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sharpley of Corsicana, Texas, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bettye, to Bill Knighton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Knighton of Canyon. The couple, who are students at Wayland College, plan to be married August 28 at the First Baptist Church in Corsicana.

BOYCE HOUSE
"Gives You Texas"

Did you know—

That there was a company of Mexicans who fought on the Texas side at San Jacinto?

That after the fall of the Alamo, Santa Anna had Mrs. Dickinson, mother of the "Babe of the Alamo," brought before him and tried to persuade her to let him adopt the little girl?

That a young man who became famous later as Bet-a-Million Gates convinced cattlemen that barbed wire would hold cattle by building a corral in the Military Plaza at San Antonio—and thereby revolutionized the economic history of Texas?

That Texas was under not six, but seven, flags—the "forgotten" flag being the green banner of the filibusters who in 1814 drove every Spanish soldier out of Texas for a time?

That a Texan who was "killed" in the Grass Fight at San Antonio "came back to life"?

That Samuel Maverick, who gave the word, "maverick" to the cattle industry, never owned more than 1,200 head of cattle?

These, and many other stories are told in your columnist's newest book, "City of Flaming Adventure," (Naylor Co., San Antonio), the first full length history of San Antonio, Texas' most historic city and one of the four most distinctive cities in America.

Ralph Killgore, Rosebud publisher-postmaster, feels that there is the proverbial million dollars' worth of ready-made publicity for a rose-grower if he would locate there. "Roses from Rosebud"—the phrase rolls off the tongue. He's probably correct—but just wait till the Tyler Chamber of Commerce hears about this!

Consternation prevailed in an Eastland County newspaper office a while back. There is a community called Morton Valley but, in setting a headline, the operator left out the "t" and it came out in the paper "Moron Valley."

ABOUT MR. DIONNE

Two fellows sat in a New York restaurant. Each had a cup of coffee in front of him, and a single newspaper was spread out on the table so that both might read at the same time.

The first pointed to a picture of the Dionne quintuplets. "Look at those quints, he said. "Aren't they growing up to be charming youngsters?"

The second glanced at the photo. "Yeah," he grunted. "Sure—they are okay." He sipped his coffee and then spoke suddenly: "By the way, has Mr. Dionne begotten any more quintuplets?"

The first man put down his cup. "More quintuplets?" he echoed. "Of course not."

The other lighted a cigarette. "Just as I thought," he murmured. "I always imagined he was just a flash in the pan!"

OF COURSE, HE WOULD

A parson had occasion to reprove a small boy for swearing.

"If you feel you must say something just say 'Bother!' he said. "Your father doesn't swear, does he?"

" Oh, no, sir!"

"Well then, if he were working in the garden and suddenly stepped backwards onto a rake which flew up and hit him from behind, what would he say?

"He'd say: 'You're back early, dear'!"

THE WHOLE TRUTH

The personnel manager was interviewing a young glady for a bookkeeping position. "You understand, of course, young lady," the manager affirmed, "that we are looking for a responsible person to fill this position."

"Oh, I'm responsible," the young woman replied eagerly. "On my last job, every time there was something they called a discrepancy, they always said I was responsible."

I've got me a wonderful girl. If I don't make this one last, there's something wrong with me—Mickey Rooney, on honeymoon with third wife (Martha Vickers.)

To settle an ancient dispute between the National Guard and the Organized Reserves, Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson will ask former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts to head up an impartial committee which will try to find ways to integrate the two.

Hamstrung Rails By Government Is Very Dangerous

Fortune has published an article called "The Coming Crisis in Transportation," which deals with many facets of the complex common-carrier problem. In one section, it says that government and labor must stop treating the railroads "as the monopoly they no longer are. It means that they must be allowed to abandon hopelessly unprofitable operations. It means that they must be allowed to market their product—to set rates quickly and boldly. . . . All this means nothing less than a radical revision of the Interstate Commerce act, which for a half century has hog-tied and hamstrung the rails with its intricate windings of restriction and protocol."

In an editorial based on the Fortune piece, the St. Paul Dispatch says, "There is logic in the argument that the railroads should have greater freedom in adapting themselves to a completely changed situation." The undelying trouble with our whole transportation policy is that it is as obsolete as the ox-cart. In its fundamental principles, it was designed for the era when the railroads were the only form of land transportation of any consequence. Their only competition was water shipping, which was slow and uncertain, and was confined to a limited number of ports and a few canals. With the development of both commercial and private transportation by highway and air, the change has been revolutionary.

The ideal is a modern transportation policy, based on the obvious realities of the present, which will allow every kind of carrier to perform maximum service, under the same kind of conditions and regulations and laws. That's a large order, and it's high time Congress got to work on the job of filling it.

One Way War Might Prove To Be Wrong

In a late issue of U. S. News & World Report, David Lawrence has a long editorial on the national defense. Its alarming—and accurate—title is "How To Lose a War." It deals, in large part, with our present tendency to put all our eggs in the Air Force Basket, on the theory that big bombers carrying the A-bomb and other advanced weapons can decide a war by themselves.

That theory was held by some during the last war, and it was proved wrong. If we should adopt it and it should be proved wrong once more—as everyone except Air Force partisans think it will—this country could be placed in a desperate, and perhaps an impossible position.

Mr. Lawrence chooses as an example the decision of the Secretary of Defense to abandon the construction of a very large aircraft carrier by the Navy, though this ship, which he says would be unsinkable, had twice been approved by Congress and the President. Then he says: "It isn't merely the desire of the Navy to build a particular type of ship that is the heart of the controversy. The basic principle at issue is whether the Navy can run the Navy and the Air Force can run the Air Force and the Army can run the Army." Modern naval experts are convinced that in a future war the carrier, which would give us mobile bases throughout the world, would be the principal offensive weapon. The Air Force zealots are telling the Navy what direction its development shall take, regardless of the views of the men who by experience and training are best able to judge what is wise and necessary.

On the solution of this issue, the life of the country may some day depend. And that is what gives the carrier controversy a significance infinitely greater than whether some ship or other is to be built.

REFUGEES

The International Refugee Organization (IRO) expects to resettle 342,500 people during the twelve months between July, 1949 and July 1950, 165,000 of them in the United States. In the fifteen months between July, 1947 and December, 1948, the IRO helped resettle nearly 355,000 refugees, nearly 22,000 of them in the United States.

WARWICK'S

Adding Salt To Drinking Water Is For Good Health

A deficiency of salt in the human system can cause serious consequences, and for this reason Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer advises every person whose work is such that it causes excessive perspiration to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water during the day.

Farmers, mechanics, carpenters, construction men and all others whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content seriously depleted, and as a result may suffer from heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat, and when the thermometer hits the high register, the human body may lose as much as 40 to 50 grams of salt during a single day.

In many industrial plants, workmen are furnished with and urged to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Many find this a pleasant way of taking extra salt, but others prefer to add the needed amount of extra salt to their food and drink.

"Take your extra salt in any manner that is agreebale to you," says Dr. Cox, "but take it. Heat cramps are very painful and exhausting. They are characterized by cramps in the abdomen region, headache, and in severe cases there may be nausea and vomiting. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until a deficiency exists; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp."

According to the State Health Officer, it is a wise precaution to keep the body supplied with salt, and thus avoid much possible suffering and loss of time from heat cramp.

If we had a greater passion for history we would indulge in less hysteria.—Dr. Robert B. House, chancellor, University of North Carolina.

World Has Never Forgotten Magic Of Will Rogers

HOLLYWOOD.—The world has never forgotten Will Rogers. Nearly 14 years after his death, his magic name still pulls in the crowds—both at the box office and to his own living room.

The supersophisticates of the Plaster City, who usually don't waste tears on nostalgia, have been jamming the Motion Picture Academy theater to chuckle over a revival of Rogers' old movies like "David Harum" and "Life Begins At Forty."

And the guy with the tumbled hair and bashful grin is drawing eager crowds right to his own parlor in the hills near the ocean, too.

Tourists from all over the world stream to Will's sprawling, cream-colored frame ranch home to take a peek at his favorite easy chair, his saddles, and the tender letters he wrote to his children.

Gave Land as Park

When Mrs. Rogers died in 1944, her will gave 186 of the 345 ranch acres, including the home, to the state as a park. Last year 121,159 fans paid 25 cents apiece to troop through the big house (11 bedrooms, 11 bathrooms, and seven fireplaces).

Every inch of the ivy-covered place is just the way it was when Will's plane dived to the ice at Point Barrow, Alaska, August 15, 1933. His comfortable Monterey-style chairs are still grouped around Navaho Indian rugs in front of the big stone fireplace in the living room.

Above the fireplace is a pair of 7-foot, 4-inch steer horns sent Rogers by a Fort Worth, Tex., publisher. In a corner is a hurdy-gurdy Will bought from an old street musician in New York for his kids. An elephant sole and toenails Harry Carey brought back from the filming of "Trader Horn" in Africa are on a table.

There's a huge window famed showman Flo Ziegfeld gave Will to better his view of the green meadows and blue Pacific. Near by is a stuffed calf Rogers' pals gave him so he could practice roping something else besides the wagon-wheel chandeliers. He used it, too. One ear is gone, and the other is ragged from stings of the rope.

Needed Roping Space

The chief ranger at the ranch, Harold Pesch, says Will had the ceiling of his room raised so he'd have more space to rope in.

"His family was abroad at the time, and he wrote them he was raising the roof," the ranger chuckles.

One of Will's saddles, his spurs, and harness are enclosed in glass. So are his last newspaper columns and his final words, penned in a telegram to his daughter, Mary: "Great trip, wish you all were along . . . Going to Point Barrow today . . . Lots of love, don't worry, Dad." A trophy room holds nine of 11 scrapbooks filled with clippings about Rogers' death. The other two are at the Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Okla.

Hollywood hasn't forgotten Rogers, either. Producer Jerry Wald this year will film Will's life at Warners' studio, with Will, Jr., possibly in the title role.

Salaries of Radio Stars Much Less Than Publicized

WASHINGTON.—The highly publicized salaries of radio stars contrast sharply with statistics showing that one-fourth of the free-lance actors and singers in that business made under $1,000 in 1947, the Department of Labor reports. Its studies covered the earnings of announcers, actors, singers, and sound-effects artists.

The people at the top of these professions made $20,000 or more a year each in 1947, the report stated, but these were highly exceptional.

Actors giving their full time to radio earned an average of $3,100. One-fourth of the actors made more than $9,100, but another fourth—"not counting the large group of whom radio work was only a minor source of pay"—earned less than $900 each.

Singers enjoyed a better average, at $3,800, with less extremes: The top fourth of these earned more than $6,900 each, while the bottom fourth got up to $1,900.

Army Stops Hiring Civilians For U. S. Jobs in Germany

BERLIN.—The army has stopped hiring American civilians for military government jobs in Germany.

Col. James T. Duke, personnel officer, said that recruitment had been frozen because considerable change in organization is expected when the army turns the occupation job over to a civilian high commissioner.

Military government now has about 2,500 American employes in the American zone and in the United States sector of Berlin. The staff once was three times its present size but now, after a year and a half of steady paring, the Americans have the smallest pay roll of all the occupying powers. Latest figures showed the British with 8,000 and the French with 9,000.

It is a double pleasure to deceive the deceiver.—Jean de la Fontaine.

Emotional Upsets May Cause Mishaps Suffered by Women

LONDON.—If mama continually trips over things and falls flat on her face, it may not be that she has two left feet. She may just need a bit of sympathy from the old man.

So says a British scientific survey. The survey was made by the London school of hygiene and tropical medicine for the British government's ministry of works, which is interested in the home accident problem.

Take jealousy, for instance. A jealous woman is a walking booby trap. Psychologists taking part in the survey found. For example: A woman tripped on an electric cord, spilling a teakettle and scalding herself. Psychologists found she was jealous of her husband, that the tea table conversation had been about him having his picture taken with a bevy of beauties.

"What an effective way of changing the subject and attracting attention and sympathy," said the psychologists' report, published in the Lancet, a British medical journal.

Extensive research is needed to show how many home accidents are caused by psychological factors, the report said. Preliminary findings definitely show that women who get little sympathy or understanding from their husbands are more prone to accidents than women who are content.

Valentino Revival Leaves Young Girls Cold as Cod

LONDON.—Just as a sort of experiment, the Hampstead theater put on a revival of Rudolph Valentino in "Son of the Sheik."

Long lines of women waited to see it—those who swooned over the heart throb of the early 20's, and their daughters. The former reasserted their undying devotion. But the youngsters had other ideas. Young Norma Barnes, writing in the Daily Mirror, expressed it for them:

"Maybe I don't swoon easy—but he left me colder than a codfish on a slab."

Landlord Spends Cash To Keep Tenants Happy

GREAT NECK, N. Y.—A landlord, Paul P. Zinner, thinks the reason tenants dislike landlords is psychological—so he put up $10,000 as a starter to make his 277 tenants happy.

The 34-year-old Zinner said he doesn't see why people can't get all the advantages of a private home in an apartment house.

He can't see, for instance, why children have to be "caged birds" in a multi-family dwelling. He doesn't want that for the 90 kids on his property.

So, Zinner planned to install a hobby room, a gymnasium and recreation rooms in his new six-building development.

Zinner said he'll install television sets, toys, juke boxes, a free library, a golf driving range, a handball court, billiard, ping pong, dart and other equipment.

He has arranged for dance lessons by a well known Manhattan studio, music lessons, and daytime baby sitters at reduced rates.

"The $10,000 won't last more than a month. Then I'll have to dig up more," Zinner said, adding: "But I'll have a chance to do what I always wanted to do."

Zinner's tenants and their families—all 750 of them representing 46 different nationalities—have begun his "happier living program"—all on Zinner.

In the day the kids will see a puppet show, clown and juggler and have chocolate milk and cookies. At night the parents will dance to a name band.

Secondhand Watch Buy Usually Bad Business

MADISON, WIS.—You're likely to wind up with a bad time if you buy a secondhand watch in a barroom, the senate committee on state and local government has learned.

Confidence men put expensive dials on cheap watches, tell a hard luck story at some bar, and stick their customers with a sorry bargain, said Ralph H. Young, La Crosse, president of the Wisconsin board of examiners in watchmaking.

Young urged passage of a bill to increase the examination fee for a watchmaker certificate from $15 to $25 and a like increase in the cost of certificates to out of state watchmakers. The bill also would require sellers of used watches with no established business place (bars included) to file an invoice with the clerk of the county in which the sale was made. It also would increase the pay of members of the examining board from $10 to $15 a day.

Clarence L. Greiber, state director of vocational and adult education, said the governor's advisory committee had carefully selected the watchmakers' schools in Wisconsin for GI training, but said he knew of one state where 5,000 watchmakers were in training schools.

Afternoon Bible Story Hour For Children

An afternoon Bible story and play hour for children 4-8 years of age is being conducted Wednesday and Friday at 4:00 to 5:30, on the shady lawn at 1910 Third Avenue, just north of the Baptist Church. Miss Laverne Herring, Director of Primary Education at First Baptist Church is leading this period, and is being assisted by several volunteer helpers. Miss Herring has prepared story materials, hand-work sheets, and play activities for children, and invites all who are within these age limits. This is a service for children of all homes and faiths.

Suitable playground equipment has been purchased and will be installed as soon as possible, in order that the children may have proper recreational facilities. Mothers are requested to come by and see what is being offered, and to offer their assistance in the project.

States Open Purses to Aid Old-Age Group

WASHINGTON. — Thousands of old folks are going to get more cash from the public purse. Old age assistance funds or payments have been increased in 11 states so far in the 1949 legislative season. Thirteen other states are studying proposals to give more money to needy citizens who are 65 or older.

Cash help for the old folks runs into millions. Before the 1949 legislative sessions began, about 2,500,000 men and women were getting such aid. The average payment for the United States as a whole was $41.50. The monthly total topped 100 million dollars.

The funds go to needy people 65 or over—oldsters such as those who are not covered by the federal old age and survivors insurance system.

Federal and state governments both contribute money to the old age assistance programs. The federal government shares in payments up to $50 a month.

Minimum Hiked

In the current legislative session, North Dakota increased the minimum payments from $40 to $60 a month in cases where there is only one recipient in a family, and from $30 to $45 when there are more.

The minimum was set at $50 in New Mexico. In Maine, maximum benefits were increased from $40 to $50 a month. Nebraska raised the ceiling from $50 to $55. Montana provided for a hike of $7 in monthly grants that had averaged $45.

The Illinois legislature decided to boost the ceiling from $50 to $65 a month with the provision that it would be adjusted up or down as the cost of living rose or fell in the future.

Higher appropriations also were voted in North Carolina, Idaho, Arkansas, West Virginia and South Dakota.

But the traffic wasn't all one way in the 14 capitals where decisions already have been made. Indiana, Utah and Wyoming made no changes.

California Highest

None of the measures adopted thus far this year has hit the high target raised in California. The voters there last fall approved a proposition to increase benefits for senior citizens from $60 to $75 a month. To meet the added costs, for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30 and for the next fiscal year, the governor has asked an extra $118,235,000.

Proposals now being considered in 13 states vary quite a bit. But in half of them appropriations would be increased without raising the limits on benefits.

Among the many bills in Massachusetts are some seeking a $75 minimum.

A move is under way in Connecticut to remove the $50 ceiling and base payments on actual need. Minnesota's governor favors removal of limits.

Proposals to increase the maximums from $50 to $60 a month have been made in Michigan and Wisconsin.

'Woman' Fire Eater Unmasked, Revealed As Fugitive G.I.

BURTONWOOD AIR BASE, ENGLAND.—Donna, the "woman" fire eater whose act has been wowing British vaudeville audiences for the last three years, has been unmasked as an American GI deserter from Philadelphia.

United States army authorities said "Donna Delbert" of the English stage confessed "she" actually is Pfc. Delbert E. Hill of Philadelphia.

The rouged, beskirted Hill was arrested in a theatrical boarding house in Newcastle, England, and turned over to army authorities on charges of wartime desertion.

Hill told military police he went AWOL from his air force ground job in the summer of 1945, fearing he soon would be transferred to the Pacific theater for further war service.

It was a tip from a jealous girl friend that led to Hill's arrest. He was wearing a woman's blouse, slacks, nylons and shoes when taken into custody.

Police seized his female padding. They left behind three ducks which were part of his stage act.

At the Burtonwood base an army barber trimmed his shoulder length curly brunet locks to army specifications and shaved a day's growth of dark stubble.

The army also provided him with a green fatigue uniform and army brogans before locking him in a guardhouse cell. But he still sported plucked eyebrows and dainty, painted fingernails.

Brigade of Firemen Get Hefty Heifer From Well

CHILWORTH, ENGLAND. — Myrtle, a hefty heifer, fell into a cistern. It took a brigade of firemen to get her out.

Norman Ashworth was leading her across his farmyard to a truck. Myrtle was bound for market to become beef.

Her path crossed the cistern cover. She stepped on it. Her hind legs slipped through. The rest of her followed gradually. And there was Myrtle wearing the cistern like a girdle.

She was standing upright in several feet of water. Only her head was above the surface.

Ashworth called the Surrey fire brigade. The firemen put a rope around Myrtle and pulled. Myrtle didn't budge.

The firemen pumped out the water. They dug a shaft alongside the cistern and tore down one wall. They put two sets of ropes on Myrtle and eased her out a hundredweight or so at a time.

Mrs. Ashworth looked fondly at the unperturbed Myrtle.

"This has so endeared her to us," Mrs. Ashworth told reporters, "that we probably won't sell her at all."

Magician's Spirit Fails Again to Manifest Self

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The spirit of Howard Thurston failed for the 11th time to manifest itself to a long-time friend of the famed magician.

Claude Noble, Detroit, stood for one minute in the mausoleum where the body of Thurston lies and waited for the spirit of the magician to return.

As two newspapermen watched in silence, Noble stepped into the mausoleum at 12:30 p.m., recited the Lord's Prayer, and said:

"Howard Thurston, I am here in response to our pact. If you can manifest yourself to me, do it now."

He then held aloft a photograph of Carveth Wells, explorer and friend of the sleight-of-hand artist who died in Miami at 12:30 p.m. 13 years ago.

Under the pact made between Thurston and Noble before the magician's death, the spirit of Thurston would have knocked the picture out of Noble's hand. But today nothing happened—just as nothing had happened in the 10 previous attempts.

Noble silently left the building and walked through the rain to an automobile.

Noble, who missed the date in 1947 and 1948 because of illness, said he would return next year to make another attempt. He said that should he die, the experiment will be continued either by Wells or magician Howard Blackstone.

Pilots Cheat Coyotes Out of Antelope Meal

CRAIG, COLO. — Two civil air patrol pilots cheated a pair of coyotes out of an antelope dinner near here recently.

The fliers, Jay Brinker and P. Jones, were making a routine flight north of Craig. Brinker noticed two coyotes pussyfooting around a buck antelope which seemed to have its hind foot lifted high off the ground.

Brinker and Jones buzzed the area a couple of times and discovered the antelope's foot was caught between two strands of barbed wire.

The fliers returned to Craig and told game warden Bill Roland what they'd seen.

Then the three of them bundled into Roland's car and drove to within three miles of the antelope. They traveled the rest of the way on snowshoes, rescued the antelope by cutting the barbed wire. Taking it back to Craig, they nursed it overnight and the next day the animal seemed in good shape. The animal was freed near a huge herd of antelope.

Churchill 'Siren Suit' Brings Stylists' Sneer

LONDON. — Winston Churchill's famous "siren suit" brought a sneer from London's style arbiters.

Garbed in a "sort of something" closely resembling a pair of baggy summer flying overalls zipped up the front, loosely belted and with a floppy open collar, Churchill predicted in America that it would be the dress of the future.

The magazine Tailor and Cutter, which has been setting men's fashions since Victorian times, said the wartime prime minister was "off the mark there."

The siren suit lacks artistic appearance, said the weekly, and "structurally it is wrong; it makes for untidiness."

Lazy Mothers Blamed For Bugs Bunny Faces

LOS ANGELES.—Mother, do you want your child to grow up to look like Bugs Bunny? It's happening, says a University of California professor. Dr. George W. Hahn told a meeting of 4,000 California dentists that laziness of modern mothers was producing more children with rabbitlike faces. Too many mothers, he said, like to sleep. They shove baby's feeding schedules too far apart.

"Like any other mammal, a child wants to nurse when hungry. If he can't nurse his mother, he sucks his thumb."

Thumb sucking, the doctor said, causes protruding teeth and facial deformity so that junior looks something like a rabbit.

Infantry Force Has Always Won Wars of Past

One of the liveliest and most forthright contributions to the national defense controversy appeared in the Saturday Evening Post for June 25th. Written by Rear Admiral D. V. Gallery, and titled "An Admiral Talks Back To the Airmen," it is a powerfully reasoned refutation of the theory that we can safely base our whole defense plans on long-range bombers and the A-bomb, and largely eliminate such costly services as the Navy and the Army ground forces.

Admiral Gallery holds that the atomic blitz "is a desperation concept which holds good only for a war of the United States versus the rest of the world. It is an all-out business which can't stop at geographical or political boundaries." The reasoning here is simple. If we should go to war with Russia, the Soviet's first move would naturally be to spread out all over Europe. Red forces would be in control in France and Italy as well as behind the iron curtain. In that event, asks the Admiral, "Do we blitz Paris, Rome and Brussels?" If we did, he thinks, we would advance the cause of communism immeasurably, and, "we might win the war in 30 days and lose the peace for the next 300 years."

The engaging arguments of Air Force partisans have pretty well obscured this phase of the problem. But it is a point which is uppermost in the minds of many military men of undoubted competence and experience. General Omar Bradley, whom many consider to be one of the great combat commanders of history, has said, "However crippling air attack can be, I am convinced beyond any reasonable doubt that should this nation be forced into still another conflict, we shall once more be forced to gain the inevitable victory over dead bodies—those of our soldiers on the ground. . . . Ultimately a war between nations is reduced to one man defending his land while another tries to invade it."

The whole history of war amounts to a factual endorsement of this idea. The colossal air pounding Germany took in the last war did not bring her to her knees. It did not destroy her ability to make war, which was the goal of strategic bombing. Indeed, toward the end, the strategic bombing plan was largely abandoned, and the Allied air forces were devoted to tactical bombing of military objectives, as a preparation for invasion by sea-supported ground troops. Admiral Gallery touches on an extremely important point when he observes that the Air Force philosophy has a dangerous popular appeal simply because "it sweeps all the unpleasant facts of war under the rug and promises easy victory without much fighting." Any nation would like to win a war with a small expenditure of men, money and machines. No nation ever has.

Charles Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture, with his plan for using Treasury check to underwrite farm income, is best cast in the role of Democratic philosopher for the 1950 campaign. The Democrats figure that they can add to their strength in Congress in 1950 elections by appealing to farmers, who are expected to be disgruntled over income losses ahead. Mr. Brannan is expected to devise an appeal to farmers that will outmatch anything the Republicans will offer.

Dollars Roll In and Out Nation's "Big" Business

It seems to be widely believed that the stockholders of successful corporations are about the luckiest people in the country. During the last few years the money has been rolling into industry's coffers in a golden stream.

What is often forgotten is that the money rolls out just about as fast, before the owners can get their hands on a share of it to keep.

Here, for instance, is what happened last year to the income of a middle-sized corporation engaged in the business of processing fabrics.

Its total revenues came to $17,460,000. Nearly half — 8,330,000 — went for materials, supplies and services.

Labor came in for the next biggest slice—$6,330,000. The tax collector took almost $1,300,000. About $734,000 was retained in the business for plant expansion and working capital.

A trifle under $750,000 was left. This amounted to 4.3 cents out of each dollar of sales. And it was all that went to the stockholders, in the form of dividends, for the use of the money that made this business and its employment possible.

APPOINTEES

Two notable nominations were made during the recent past by President Truman. Gordon Gray, 40-year old lawyer and publisher and former Acting Secretary of the Army, was nominated for Secretary of the Army, and Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, 49-year-old banker, business woman and Democratic party committeewoman, was nominated to take over the job of Treasurer of the United States, vacated due to the death of W. A. Julian in an automobile accident late in May.

THE BRIGHT SIDE

Two Irishmen were using dynamite in a stone quarry when one was killed by an unexpected explosion. His friend was given the job of conveying the news to the widow.

"Mrs. Flanagan," he began, "isn't it today the man will be calling for your husband's life insurance?"

"Sure, it is that," replied Mrs. Flanagan.

"Then 'tis yourself that can be snapping your fingers at him," the friend responded cheerfully.

SLUMP?

While there is a decided downturn in business this year, nothing like the depression of 1929 is expected. Cushions, in the form of insured bank deposits, supports for farm prices, a huge backlog of savings and a pentup demand for goods will ease the shock.

The old fashioned girl who darned her husband's socks now has a daughter who socks her darned husband.

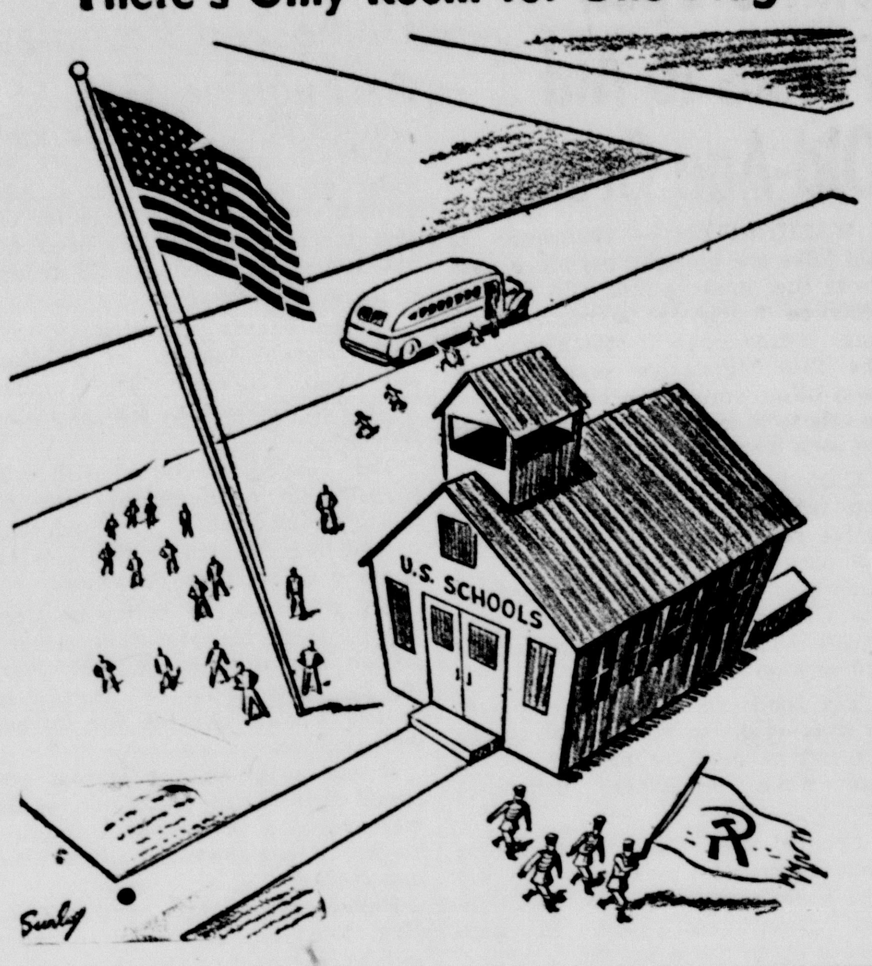
There's Only Room for One Flag



Minimum Wage Will Increase Unemployment

According to Washington reports, Congress is looking at much proposed new legislation with a wary and critical eye. This is largely the result of the decline in business activity and national income, coupled with the attendant rise in unemployment. Most of the lawmakers seem more eager than in the past to refrain from passing measures which might further rock the economic boat.

One suggested law, which falls clearly into this category, would nearly double the present minimum wage, would eliminate certain exceptions to the law which have been in effect for years, and would place other restrictions on both employer and employe. Superficially, the measure would seem sure to improve the lot of the lowest-paid workers. Actually, there is good reason for believing that it would do just the opposite. For the most part, the minimum wage directly affects only the unskilled, the marginal worker, the beginner, and the part-time worker. The value of these workers to the employer is very limited. If the law required him to pay them more than their productive worth, he would necessarily employ as few of them as possible.

This would be particularly noticeable in enterprises such as retailing, which offer many opportunities for beginners and occasional workers. The typical retailer really has to watch the pennies now if he is to make both ends meet. The consensus of experts in the field is that too high a minimum wage, along with the other restrictions, would lead to widespread layoffs.

Unwise social legislation can be a two-edged sword, that will hurt those it is designed to help.

Some economists believe people are saving too much. Continued "over-saving" could seriously deepen the recession. When the public saves abnormally, business usually spends less on plant and equipment. Other economists say liquid savings now in hands of the public (in cash, Government bonds, loans and bank deposits) will give rise to huge private spending as soon as price adjustments are completed, and this will provide a base for long-term prosperity to start some time in 1950.

Soft goods manufacturers cut their buying last July. Yet the value of finished goods they had on hand rose about $900 million by the end of March. Though manufacturers of durables cut their buying in December their inventories increased substantially up to April 1.

U. S. SUES 14 FIRMS

The United States Government has filed a civil anti-trust suit against fourteen building materials companies and one individual in Cleveland, Ohio, charging them with unlawful price-fixing in such materials. The suit alleges that the individual list on "hard-building material" sold in the Cleveland area and that this list provided a means for fixing and maintaining prices. "Hard-building" materials includes about 90 items, exclusive of lumber and millwork, used in home construction.

Lieut. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former Ambassador to Russia, heads the list of those considered for the job of Army Staff Chief if General Bradley does get a chance to become the first chairman of a Joint Chief's of Staff organization. General J. Lawton Collins and Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, however, still are not counted out for the top army job.

John Snyder, Treasury Secretary, remains convinced that, if everybody will just refuse to recognize a setback in business, there won't be a setback. Mr. Snyder's troubles with Government finances are to grow so big with a recession that he can't bring himself to admit that there might be one.

The English hen that lays six eggs a day didn't get that idea from the Labor government.

MAINTENANCE CREW WADES MUD

To Maintain Good Gas Service

Pipe line maintenance crews are but one of many divisions behind your natural gas service. A crew's job is to keep transmission pipe lines, carrying natural gas to your home, in good repair and to work during such emergencies that might occur.

The picture, shown above, was made of a maintenance crew carrying repair equipment to the scene of a line break. Maintenance crews are trained to meet such emergencies, and due to their training the customers of the town this line serves continued to have good gas service although the natural gas flow was cut while the repair was being made.

Yes ... maintenance of pipe lines is very important to good gas service.

Maintenance of pipe lines is only one of many functions performed by employees of West Texas Gas Company ... all of which are designed to furnish you good natural gas service, high in quality, low in price ... the best bargain in your family budget.

The Picture

Members of one of West Texas Gas Company's maintenance crew are carrying a section of pipe to the scene of a pipe line break. Mud was so deep repair equipment could not be transported on trucks to the break, indicated by arrow, which is over one quarter of a mile from the men.

FOREIGN AID

From July 1, 1945 through June 30, 1948, the United States spent $33,614,000,000 on foreign aid. This sum does not include occupation costs. It includes dollars spent, credits, loans and goods. The Bureau of the Budget estimates that an additional $7,106,000,000 will be spent in fiscal 1949 and that $6,535,000,000 more will be spent in fiscal 1950.

"So he ought to be tender," replied hubby. "He's been in hot water for 20 years."

Average Man Works Half as Much Now To Clothe Family

NEW YORK.—The average man works only half as hard today to clothe his family as he did in 1914.

The national industrial conference board, an independent fact-finding organization, in a survey found the working man in 1948 spent the equivalent of less than five hours' work a week to buy clothes for his family whereas he had to work more than nine hours a week in 1914 to get the money.

"The purchasing value of the wage earners' clothing dollar has more than doubled over the 34-year period," said the board. "The three-fold rise in clothing prices has been overshadowed by the sixfold increase in wages over the hourly rate of 25 cents in 1914.

"The wage earner could in 1948 outfit himself with an overcoat, gloves, hat, suit, shirt, socks, and shoes and pay the bill by working 61 hours.

"The 1914 wage earner would have had to work 153 hours for the same outfit."

On the same scale, a woman's hat cost one and a half hours work in 1948 and four hours in 1914.

Two factors in the cost difference were pointed out. The average family size in 1914 was 4.88 persons compared with 3.61 persons last year. But the board found the modern family buys a greater variety and larger amounts of clothing, with the increase in personal consumption amounting to almost 50 per cent in the 34 years.

Furthermore the expenditures for heavy clothing has declined in the period because of advances in home heating and travel in automobiles.

In the past 34 years, women have taken over a larger and larger share of the clothing dollar, the board found. In 1914 the man spent 50 per cent more for his clothing than he permitted his wife to spend. But today, the woman spends 30 per cent more for her outfits than her husband does for his.

Johnny Appleseed Bones May Receive Reinterment

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Reports that the grave of Johnny Appleseed in Fort Wayne, Ind., has fallen into neglect inspired a movement to have the remains of the fabulous orchard planter brought back to Springfield.

Appleseed—his real name was John Chapman—generally is believed to have been born in Springfield. His cross-country sowing of appleseeds won him his better-known name.

He died at Fort Wayne March 11, 1847.

A chamber of commerce campaign to transfer Chapman's remains was joined by Mayor Daniel B. Bunton.

"We'd be glad to have him rest here," said the Mayor, "in the heart of Johnny Appleseed Park."

Cads Invade Britain To Get Free Dentures

LONDON.—The house of commons got its teeth into a touchy topic:

Are aliens coming over in waves to get free British dentures?

Sir Waldron Smithers, 68-year-old Conservative, was the first to bare his uppers.

He called the house's attention to a government leaflet which he said offered medical, dental, and nursing care to visitors to Britain under the national health services act.

Sir Waldron wanted to know if this is legal.

"I have all sorts of letters of people coming here and getting spectacles and false teeth and going to Antwerp and selling them," he said.

Sir Waldron added that a French doctor told him many of his patients who could afford the fare came to Britain for free treatment and that French doctors were "having a bad time as a result."

All this, he said bitingly, is "part of the Socialist technique of telling the whole world that the Socialist government of England would give free this and that at a time when we were living on the charity of America."

Arthur Blenkinsop, parliamentary secretary for the minister of health, said Sir Waldron's fears "about an invasion of our shores by people who want false teeth and spectacles are a figment of the imagination."

Hypnotism May Be Used To Lessen Dentist Fear

TROY, ALA.—Soon you may be able to believe that "painless dentist" sign.

Some 35 southeast Alabama dentists learned how it was done when Dr. James Fraser, head of the Troy State Teachers college chemistry department, hypnotized a patient before he had a tooth pulled.

"Didn't feel a thing," said George Hattaway, who agreed to the experiment. "And I needed the thing pulled anyway."

Dr. Fraser is a student of psychology and hypnosis and has suggested the use of hypnosis as an anesthetic for dentists.

Discounts Theory That Eggs, Meat Are Dispensable

The New York Times recently printed a report on the findings of a distinguished chemist to the effect that the world can support a population of 15,000,000,000 if we make the most of our chemical knowledge. He further predicted that meat and eggs will disappear from the diet, because a beef steer converts only about 12 per cent of its food into meat. Chemistry, he went on, will enable us to convert wood into sugar for human consumption.

Shortly afterwards , The Times published a letter from a doctor emphatically disagreeing with this theory. His purpose, he wrote, was to point to the pitfall in taking knowledge obtained in the field of chemistry and applying it to human nutrition without considering facts obtained in clinical medicine. Then he said: "Research in human nutrition during recent years definitely indicates the superiority of animal protein foods, such as meat and eggs, over all other foods. Further, there is strong evidence indicating that sugars are not only inferior foods but may also be harmful to the human organism. . . .

"The researcher in chemistry knows little or nothing of clinical medicine. It is not expected that he should. Clinical researchers are not expected to be chemists. Specialization is a necessity. However, the stores of knowledge gained from highly specialized fields of research must be applied with the wisdom that comes with broad knowledge and understanding."

For many years, optimistic accounts of the possibilities of ersatz foods made from wood and other materials have appeared at intervals. None of these products have come anywhere near expectations. The animal protein foods occupy a dominanct place in the American diet, and nothing has appeared to dislodge them.

Political strategy of the Democrats still is to get labor-law changes so tangled that the Taft-Hartley Act will stay on the books during much of election year 1950. With Senator Taft running for renomination and re-election in Ohio, the Democratic leaders feel that they can get labor more excited with a Taft-Hartley Act on the books than with it off.

The steel industry is already in the midst of the same readjustment that hit other lines earlier, with orders slowing, backlogs vanishing. By high-pressure soliciting, the big companies are getting orders that will keep them operating at a high level for some time. But smaller companies are having trouble finding orders for 30 days ahead.

Cosmetics industry, after watching sales climb from $350 million in 1939 to $700 million last year, still sees no saturation in sight, plans to be a $1 billion industry before long. As of now, per capital expenditure for cosmetics is only $8, as against $41 for tobacco and $58 for alcohol.
